

Which statement is true?

- A. Each stroke on a Chinese character should be written in a specific order.
- B. Each stroke on a Chinese character can be written in any order.

Fill in the missing words:

The dragon is a symbol of power, _____ and _____

What number is this?

Are giant pandas only black and white?

Which colour is linked to the Chinese emperors?

How many subspecies of tiger live in China?

Fill in the missing word:

The Chinese name for the golden snub-nosed monkey is the golden _____ monkey.

Which year was the Olympics held in Beijing?

What is terracotta?

Which statement is true?

- A. The silkworm is a type of worm.
- B. The silkworm is a type of moth.

What is the meaning of this character?

What is the name for the style of painting on this stamp?

How many Chinese zodiac animals are there?

What is the meaning of these characters?

Which statement is true?

- A. The Chinese invented the chopsticks and have never used forks.
- B. The Chinese invented both chopsticks and forks.

Which statement is true?

- A. The earliest parts of the Great Wall were built in the 17th century.
- B. The earliest parts of the Great Wall were built in the 7th century.